To help keep you up to date with changes in employment law we can provide bespoke training and seminars on diversity and equality, performance management, discipline, restructuring, Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations (TUPE) and other relevant topics.

Our services for employers

Employment contracts
We consider the employment contract to be the foundation of the relationship between employer and employee. An employment contract must protect your business by setting out the relationship between the parties in clear, unambiguous terms. We’ll ensure that your employment contracts are flexible enough to adapt to constantly evolving business requirements and operational needs while remaining legally compliant.

“The solicitors who have handled our employment related issues are of the highest quality in terms of their specialist area of expertise, their professionalism and their approach to us as clients and as people.”

— The Legal 500 UK
We’ll assist you by:

- Advising on terms to protect your businesses, including post termination restrictive covenants;
- Drafting bespoke terms and conditions, for example, to cover commission and bonus schemes;
- Reviewing existing contracts to ensure they comply with the current legal framework and are relevant to your current business needs; and
- Making changes to existing contracts.

Policies, procedures and handbooks

Well drafted policies and procedures are vital to protect your business. We know from experience that early investment in these documents is essential, not only to clarify your employees’ rights and obligations, but to resolve disputes swiftly.

We can draft the following documents for all types and sizes of business:

- HR policies and handbooks
- Consultancy agreements
- Employment contracts
- Directors’ service agreements

Redundancies

We can advise you on the most effective ways to carry out the complex and often stressful process of carrying out redundancies, whether on an individual basis or collectively.

We can also advise elected employee representatives and individual employees to ensure employers are following statutory and best practice requirements when carrying out a collective redundancy process or during transfers under the Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations (TUPE).

Discrimination in the workplace

We can minimise the possibility of your organisation facing discrimination allegations and, if the worst happens, defend an employment tribunal claim.

We can:

- Advise on pre-employment checks and medical questionnaires;
- Draft equal opportunities and anti-harassment policies;
- Advise on grievances alleging harassment or discrimination;
- Train managers on anti-harassment and equal opportunities;
- Respond to requests for variations to working patterns because of caring responsibilities, disability or other reasons; and
- Ensure that performance management is not unfair to disabled or older workers.

Tribunal and court proceedings

We can represent you in the full range of employment tribunal claims including:

- Unlawful discrimination for race, sex, disability, sexual orientation, age, religion and belief, for example
- Unfair dismissal
- Whistleblowing claims
- Unlawful deductions from wages
- Claims for failure to consult on a TUPE transfer and/or a collective redundancy
- Equal pay
- Maternity and parental rights
- Claims relating to trade union membership
- Claims under the working time regulations

Handling dismissals

We have extensive experience in assisting employers when handling terminations. Whatever the reason for the dismissal, we’ll minimise time and costs, manage the legal and PR risks and still achieve your desired commercial outcome.

Other services include

- Maternity and paternity leave and pay
- Flexible working
- Pay and remuneration
- Bonuses
- Long and short-term sickness absence
- Transfers of undertakings
- Misuse of confidential information by employees
- Team moves
- Immigration and recruitment from outside the EU or European Economic Area
In any case, in any industry

We advise clients in a variety of sectors including maritime, aviation & travel, energy & infrastructure, commodities & trade, TMT, gaming & betting, hospitality & retail, insurance, real estate and private wealth & family.

“...to equip you with the know-how and support you need to make the right decisions for your business.”

How we work

Our priority is to equip you with the know-how and support you need to make the right decisions for your business.
